

The Future of Food

at Golden West College, Huntington Beach

The Younger Chemist Committee organized this Program-in-a-Box event at Golden West College on February 25, 2020. This was a great social, informational, and interactive event that teaches the community about sustainability and chemistry! This event discussed the plant-based meat alternatives and how this will help solve the problems that food brings to humanity—health, sustainability, global warming, poverty, and inequality. Orange County American Chemical Society reimbursed vegan snacks and chemistry-related giveaways. There were also raffles, icebreakers, and surveys organized at this event. The event was attended by over 75 college students and were given very good feedback..OCACS is invited by the STEM Center of Golden West College to do the next program in a box again.
